

Carol Cornell, Director
NKU SBDC

Carol Cornell came to the Northern Kentucky University SBDC in July 2007 with over 18 years of experience in strategic value creation through the design, communication and implementation of integrated growth and/or change. Throughout her career she has established a proven track record of development and execution of annual and long-term revenue plans in for-profit and not-for-profit entities, small and large corporations, private and public sectors, and government contract activities. She served as the Chief Operating Officer of a medical research company and Director of Strategy and Operations for an internet technology company before joining the SBDC.

Through the years, Cornell has worked with clients in various industries, including: engineering, automotive, retail, medical device and pharmaceuticals, and government consulting.
